SMITHMEN BEAT ROCHESTER 8-2

Six Innings of Ball Are Played in Mud—First Two in Rain.

By Ed. J. Murray.
ROCHESTER, Ind., April 17.—Ed. Smith, who grew up in this man's town, brought his Central league baseball club here Sunday to exhibit before the home folks. Ed was insistent that the home folks get a chance to see the team in action, and, although the heavens let loose as only heavens can, the entire pastime was started, with the final count 8 to 2 in favor of the boys at the other end of the L. E. & W.

The rain started in the first inning, but the men kept to their posts. Then it rained more in the second inning and everyone hunted shelter. After a little halt in the downpour the athletes went out to perform again, but were forced to seek shelter a few minutes later. After a 20-minute wait the rain stopped, the sun came out and the contest was finished on a muddy field.

Mud! Mud! Mud!
Few balls were driven far, although hard hit. The wet earth wrapped itself around the pellet and stopped its speed, while the opposing pitchers proved more than unkind by slipping a strike across every now and then, while the Bender athletes were trying to find anchorage for their feet.

Smith worked Ashenfelter for three sessions and Valden for two. Bashing, who was booked to play center field, failed to show and Walker was sent to right and Grimes to center. The Bender hurlers used little stuff on the ball, although the pitchers for the home nine, George Moore of South Bend and Willard, not the champion—cut loose and hooked almost all of their offerings.

Get an Early Start.
Grimes led off by setting hit and Koehler sent a single to center. Fisher sacrificed and Gray's single past third scored Grimes and Koehler. Walker, first up in the second, walked and took second when Willard hit a death trap to the first sacker. Ashenfelter fanned beautifully, but was safe on first when Willard hit the Bender first, catching for Koehler, let the third strike go by. Walker going to third, Grimes hit to Middleton, who threw low to the plate, and Walker scored, while Grimes reached second and Ashenfelter third. Koehler's infield hit beat Ashenfelter to the plate. Fisher doubled back of third base and Grimes and Koehler scored. Gray's hit past second base scored Fisher. Tannehill's fly to short ended it.

Bases Are Loaded.
Kading got around to third in the third but failed to score. In the fourth, with the bases loaded and two gone, Kading sent a long fly to left field, but it was taken in by the man out there for that purpose. In the next three sessions it was three up and three down.

Walker opened the eighth by tapping one to short and was safe on the low throw. He took second on a wild pitch. Willard flew out, but Schofield at short threw badly on Valden's toss and Walker scored, while Valden went to second. Grimes hit to center and Valden was doubled at second.

Koehler played the ninth with a walk and added a delayed steal. Fisher hit to left and Ben came home. Tannehill got a hit to right field, but Moore, who gave way to Willard in the box in the fifth, tossed him out at first. Kading walked but Walker ended it with a fly to Fink.

Moore for the home town lads began the first frame by letting four wild ones go. He trusted it for Ashenfelter caught him off first. Whitting fanned and Schofield went out when Ashenfelter took Koehler's throw of a grounder that got away from Kading.

Rochester Scores Run.
Long got a single in the second, but died stealing. Moore walked and took third when Koehler hoisted Willard's drive. Middleton hit to Koehler and went out, but Moore scored. Willard threw to second to catch Willard, but the ball went to Grimes, who beat Willard to third with his throw. Moore got his second walk in the third, but got no farther. With one down in the fourth, Long walked and took second on a wild pitch. Moore hit to Tannehill and went out. Willard's drive went as a hit when Gray couldn't move fast enough in the mud, and Long scored. Middleton walked, but Fink ended it by flying to Fisher.

In the sixth and seventh innings the home team managed to get men on, but the necessary hits were not forthcoming. In the eighth and ninth it was one, two three. Valden.

EXPECT BIG LIST IN HANDICAP MEET

Bowling Entries Must Be in by Wednesday—Schedules End This Week.

Wednesday will mark the closing of entries for the annual handicap tournament, which is scheduled for the Orpheum alleys, which promises to far surpass that in the matter of entries for last year, at which time 32 five-man teams took part in the initial event. Already more than 20 teams have filed their blanks, which is an indication that the event will be twice as large as last year.

It is certain that the two-man team and individual list will be much larger than last spring as the advance entries for the most part include all of the events. Bowlers are fast learning that beginners, especially in a handicap event, have as good a chance of bettering the above prize list than do the veterans. This was thoroughly demonstrated last year when all of the choice positions in all of the prize lists were captured by new bowlers.

The management also wishes it understood that the entries will positively close on April 19, and there will be no added entries after the books have been closed on the above date. This system has always been in force in the big classic, and was inaugurated in the state tournament this spring as well as the city tournament last winter, which is as it should be. It gives the officials of the tournament a chance to build their schedule and arrange a prize list before the event is started, thus eliminating all tendencies for skepticism.

Leagues Close This Week.
All of the remaining leagues will close their schedules during the week and in nearly every organization the pennant winners have already been established. But there are several in which the final week's play may alter the present standing of teams materially. In the Antlers' league the Bards have a cinch with a five game lead over their nearest contenders, while in the Bankers' league the Merchants' National have been voted another pennant for several weeks past. The Tylers have things practically their own way in the Elks' league, the Federals look good in the Postoffice league, while the Schafer & Koehlers are a pipe in the United League.

But there are others wherein the sailing is not so smooth. There is a hot scrap on in the Federal league, where any one of three clubs, the Antlers, Tylers and Antlers must be taken into consideration. For nearly the whole route the Fawns have predominated but last week they were surpassed by the Antlers. The Tylers have been forging their way to the top in surprising manner, and, taking their handicap into consideration, in their contest against the leaders this week, are a good bet, unless the Fawns should win all of the games against their opponents.

The Lumber league, that is the three top teams, Maples, Gums and Pines, have been like an insurrection in Mexico, as there has been a systematic series of alternation between these teams for the top of the heap throughout the season. A three team tie is possible at the conclusion of the schedule in the event the Maples and the Oaks take the Gums for a brace of games.

What has been a furious scrap all season was practically ended last week in the Printers' league, when the Hibberdids won the odd game from our News-Times boys, thus giving the former a two-game advantage over the latter in the stretch, which seems like too big a handicap to overcome where the teams are so well matched as in the Printers' league.

Serious Situation.
A very serious situation confronts the Temple league bowlers, where the Tousts, Tusks and Bucks have made the running extremely hazardous for the past six weeks. During the past two years the Tusks have had easy sailing and have been voted the panic almost as soon as the schedule was compiled. However, this year things are different and the surprise of the league are the Bucks. This team has been content for years to make a dash at the outset and fall by the wayside, but have now developed into regular fighters.

The Studebaker and Trio leagues closed their schedules with the greatest margin for the winners in the history of the two organizations, a margin of three games separating the winners from the runner-up. However, the prize winners were not entirely established when the schedule closed as the Studebakers and Rims had to quarrel over possession of third place.

The Studebakers will meet the Benders on Saturday while on Sunday a team composed of the stars of the Factory league will battle the local Central leaguers. These will be the first games staged on the home grounds and they are expected to draw good crowds.

It was back to Springbrook park today for the local athletes. The game at Rochester yesterday convinced the men that they were weak on hitting at curves and they will get busy remedying this defect. The pitchers are about in shape and are expected to begin breaking hooks across the pan. The Central league opening is fast approaching and the men must get their batting eyes in shape for the coming encounters.

SMITH AFTER GAMES WITH LOCAL TEAMS
Ready to Meet Any Bunch in the City—Has Games Arranged For Saturday and Sunday.

Any team in South Bend looking for an argument can find it any day this week excepting Saturday if they will journey out to Springbrook park. Ed Smith has issued the challenge and would like to put his Benders against the best in the city. In case no teams want to face the Benders, the squad will stage practice games.

The Studebakers will meet the Benders on Saturday while on Sunday a team composed of the stars of the Factory league will battle the local Central leaguers. These will be the first games staged on the home grounds and they are expected to draw good crowds.
